Farm or Plantation, whereof William Stackhouse, late of Cecil county, died seized, cotatining 110 acres of land, more or less.
The tract of land now offered for sale is a neat little Farm, situate in New-Munster, Cecil county, and state of Maryland, about 7 miles north from the town of Elkton; and so near to the Pounsylvania line, that a person removing from that state would hardly be tersible of the change, except from the dicreased amount of his taxes. The heighborhood is healthy; the society good; the water excellent; the Land primy; and the improvements thereon, condortable. This little farm offers an albantageous speculation to an industrious l'emisylvania Leginer, with a small capital. With a hittle money and a good stock of Industry, he may grow rich in a fow years; and if he does not, he will at least be sure of good health and intependence. The population is such as may be found in Pennsylvania. The owners of the-soil work the land themsince, without slaves.
