

THE FARMER'S DEPARTMENT.

Extract of a letter to the Editor of the American Farmer.

Valuable Experiments to show the difference between raw corn and corn meal cooked, as feed for Hogs. "Some two years ago, while I was confined to the bedside by a cold, I amused myself with several experiments to find the increase by weight, of corn, rye, short, &c. by boiling and cooking, with a view to economizing hog feed. I soon became convinced, that wonderful effects might be easily produced; and though I then made a regular record of what I did, strange to tell, I have never till lately attempted to put my theory in practice. I have had, since the 1st day of December, an actual experiment going on between raw corn, and meal made into thick mush: two pigs, of about one hundred weight each, have been eating seven pounds each, of raw corn, per 24 hours; and two others of near the same size, had exactly seven pounds of meal made into good mush between them. These seven pounds of meal, cooked into the state of good stiff mush, weigh from 26 to 33 pounds. I weighed my pigs accurately at beginning; I weighed them again two days since, to mark the progress. The two eating 14 pounds of corn per day, had increased 17 pounds in 16 days; the two eating 7 pounds of cooked meal per day, had increased 24 pounds in the same time. Here is a saving of one half the corn. I shall carry them on till early in January, when I shall kill them."

FOR THE LADIES.

Germans Polish for Furniture.—Melt one ounce of black rosin and a quarter of a pound of yellow wax, in an earthen pipkin, and pouring in by degrees two ounces of spirits of turpentine; when the whole is well incorporated, put it in an earthen jar, and keep it covered for use. When you use it, spread a little of it on the furniture with a soft cloth, and rub it well. In a few days the polish will be as hard and bright as varnish.

FASHION.—A writer in the Nantucket Enquirer recommends, among other abominable fashions, that boots and shoes be made like gloves, with toes to them. Cuff's innumerable rubum shoes were the article—he went barefoot.

An avaricious person who kept a very scanty table, dining lately with his son at an ordinary in Cambridge, whispered in his ear, "Tom you must eat for to-day and to-morrow." "O yes," retorted the half-starved lad, but I can't eat for yesterday and the day before, yet, father."

THE OSAGE INDIANS.

The following, among other interesting particulars relative to the Osages, have been furnished by a correspondent to the editor of the Mobile Register:

"The Osages are a tall race of men, and are well formed; their noses are aquiline, almost without an exception, and the general resemblance to each other in person was so great that they appeared a set of men cast in one mould. The women place their children soon after they are born on a board, at which they are tied down the most part of the time; hand and foot, until they are able to walk. The practice tends to flatten, very much, the back parts of their heads, and probably renders them so very awkward in their persons. The color of the Osages is much lighter than any other Indians I have ever seen; and they have in the places of black so common among other Indians, a light brown hair. The men shave their head to the skin, leaving only a small tuft of hair, with a triangle bare, on the top and back part of the head; to this tuft they attach feathers and other ornaments, each a token of some particular exploit. The one who bears the highest mark of distinction is the greatest war chief.

"To give you some idea of their speed in travelling—a young warrior was despatched on foot, from Col. Chouteau's with an express to the Creek Agency, a distance of about forty miles; he started at 12 o'clock, noon, and returned with an answer between 9 & 10 o'clock in the evening, performing a walk of nearly eighty miles in less than ten hours! This happened while I was among them. It is indeed very common for the men and women to travel with their skins, from Chouteau's village to Col. Chouteau's, on their trading, and return home on the same day; the distance of going and coming being not less, certainly, than 70 miles."

Longevity.—There is now living in this country, a man of the name of John Hill, who from the best information that can be obtained from himself and others, is between 100 and 120 years of age. He served George the 1st, 11th and 12th, as a soldier; the latter the last time in this country under General Braddock, and was considered too old for a soldier when our revolutionary war broke out. He enjoys pretty good health at present, and appears likely to have yet some years more. He has no other living relatives, affords no argument of immortality being necessary to longevity. Providence Pa. Repository.

A black roset horse will die before a small white goat can get an opinion the Spaniards have of its colour.

For the Elkton Press.

Mr. Enquirer.—The following is a copy of some lines, written more than twenty years ago, by the late John I. obtained from an informant, that they are the production of a poor, unfortunate mechanic, who kept house with a lone sister. He was temperate, and in one of his fits of intoxication fell into the fire, which was the cause of some months' confinement. One dark cloudy day his sister was absent—He became despondent, and thus gave vent to his feelings.

Supposed to be Bard.

Now silence holds her solemn court,
And I a prisoner there,
Am left to mourn my wretched fate,
In horrid black despair.

Ah why am I thus left alone,
To spend my hours in grief;
Or is there not a pitying soul,
To come to my relief.

Why am I thus consign'd to woe,
To agonizing pain,
And has dread fate his furies sent,
To shatter this poor frame.

Some kind physician lend your aid,
Extract the fiery darts,
Nor let the darkness of the day
O'erwhelm my throbbing heart.

But no physician comes this way,
Say whether, whither fled;
Are you to towns and cities gone,
Or numbered with the dead.

Then must a wretch lay here and wait
His cruel destiny,
And call on Death at last to come
And end his misery.

Ye pitying Gods, oh! hear the cries
Of an unworthy wretch,
And soothe the sorrows of my soul,
Assuage my grief and pain.

In mercy send some speedy help,
And smooth this brow of care,
Extract the venom from my flesh,
And check the falling tear.

Oh let Bethesda's waters flow
So they may come this way,
Then in her streamlets I shall bathe,
Wash all disease away.

Oh God of mercy and of peace,
Send forth thy pitying eye,
Upon a wretch drown'd in tears,
And hear a sinner's cry.

To the Voters of Cecil County.

JACKSONIANS IN PARTICULAR.

Friends and Fellow Citizens.

BEING among the first who opposed Canvassing, you will not think strange that I would not permit my name to be used in a late meeting held in Elkton, believing as I do, that no 8, 10, or 15 men have a right to dictate to the people of this county, and by mandate any who lie, or who are not, the proper person to be supported for any office; and that all such proceedings are direct infringements on rights and liberties of the people. The poor man, mechanic, and labourer,—when were they consulted? When were their voices heard in a caucus meeting? Never. Yet, contrary to reason and justice, they are called on (impudently) to vote for, and support a caucus candidate, in whose nomination they had, and perhaps have, neither part nor lot. And as good Adams, or Jackson as he, as the case may be, you must stick to your party, regardless of consequence. Party! Detestable word! Harp'd on constantly by designing men, that the may profit by getting, and keeping in fit offices.—This war was never can be right. Fellow citizens, if you, and you alone, belong to this right. And on the day of Election, it is for you, by your united voices, at the hustings, to exercise this right as Freemen, and say as your unbiased judgment may direct, who is, or who is not the proper person.

With a fixed belief in the foregoing principles, and a strong interest growing out of the following circumstance, I still remain before you a Candidate for the Office of Sheriff.—There are many who know, but the people are generally unacquainted with the fact, that I was a security for the late year of Francis Gillaspys Sheriffship, and by his death and failure, we were losers to a large amount. There were many who collected fees, belonging to the estate of Mr. Gillaspys to the amount of perhaps $5000. My object in soliciting the office of Sheriff was, and is, if elected, to collect this money, which would in part make us whole. As it is, it is lost to me forever. Though it is justly mine, yet without your generous assistance, I can never obtain it. I therefore appeal to the just and generous feelings of the Freemen of this county, in whose power it is to grant me the opportunity of collecting the above sum. Fellow Citizens, it is for you to do the generous deed. It is for you to say, Receive this and be comfortable. Or, the balance of life, you shall remain Poor and penniless: Though it is justly yours, you shall never have it.—And the country does live a man, with sense of justice, and kindly feelings to his fellow man, that by his vote would make me poor, and rob me of what justly is mine. I hope there are but few, if any in this county, whose party feelings would by an uncollected fee, belonging to one, injure, perhaps ruin a neighbour, a friend. Big with the hope, that with hearts as pure as freemen ought to have, you will promptly do me that Justice which you would all readily expect, and justly deserve in a similar situation. I await, and will cheerfully submit to your decision.

GEORGE TURNER.

New and Seasonable Goods.

THE subscribers have just received a large assortment of Cloths, Cambrics, Cassimeres, Vestings, Gingham, Calicoes, silks, Flannels, circassians, &c. with a great variety of other seasonable Goods, all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices for cash or produce.

Rochester & Gilpin.

Elkton, Aug 27

COUNCIL CHAMBER,

AUGUST 26, 1830.

ORDERED. That the act to repeal all such parts of the Constitution and form of Government, as relate to the division of Frederick county into eleven Election Districts, and for other purposes; the act to alter and change all such parts of the Constitution and form of government of this State, as relate to the division of Worcester county, into Election Districts; and the act to regulate the removal of Proceedings in Criminal cases, and to make certain changes in the Constitution and form of government for that purpose; be published once a week for three weeks in the Maryland Gazette, and Carrolltonian, Annapolis—Republican, and Gazette, Baltimore—Messenger, Snow Hill—Village Herald, Princess Anne—Wasp, Eastern—Times, Centreville—Chronicle—Cambridge—Telegraph, Chestertown—Elkton Press, Elkton—Free Press, Rockville—Citizen, Frederick—Town—Hager's Town Mail—and Advocate, Cumberland.

JAMES MURRAY,
Clerk of the Council.

CHAPTER 108.

An act to repeal all such parts of the Constitution and form of government; as relate to the division of Frederick county into eleven Election Districts, and for other purposes.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, (that) by the General Assembly of Maryland, That all such parts of the constitution and form of government as direct that Frederick county shall be divided into eleven election districts, be, and they are hereby repealed.

Sec. 2. And be it enacted, That Frederick county shall be divided into twelve separate election districts, and the additional district shall be taken and laid off from the third election district, as the case now numbered.

Sec. 3. And be it enacted, That Patrick McGill, Junior, George Wilyard, Col. John Thomas, Benjamin West and George Bowles, of the third election district of the county aforesaid, be, and they are hereby authorized and appointed, or a majority of them, to lay off, lay off and divide anew the third election district, into two election districts, and to number the new election district formed out of the third election district; and to make choice of a place in the said new election district, so laid off, at which the elections shall be held, having regard to the accommodation of persons attending on such elections; and the said commissioners shall, on or before the third Monday in April, eighteen hundred and thirty-one, deliver to the clerk of Frederick county a description in writing, under their hands and seals, specifying plainly the boundaries and number of the election districts, so laid off by them; and also the place where the elections for each district shall be held; and the said clerk shall record the same in the records of said county.

Sec. 4. And be it enacted, That the sheriff of Frederick county shall give notice of the place of holding the election in such election district so laid off, by causing the same to be inserted in one of the newspapers, printed in Frederick county, once a week for at least two months, previous to holding the election in October eighteen hundred and thirty-one.

Sec. 5. And be it enacted, That if any of the commissioners named in this act, shall die, resign, or be out of the county, he or she, having his appointment, before the first day of March, eighteen hundred and thirty-one, the remaining commissioner, or a majority of them, are hereby authorized and directed to fill such vacancy or vacancies.

Sec. 6. And be it enacted, That each commissioner shall be entitled to receive at the rate of two dollars per day, for every day he shall act in the discharge of the duties imposed upon him, by this act, to be assessed and levied by the levy court of Frederick county, as other county charges are; which said sums, when levied and collected, shall be paid over to such county charges as.

Sec. 7. And be it enacted, That if this act be repealed by the next General Assembly of Maryland, after the next election of delegates, during the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case, this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of the constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing therein contained, to the contrary notwithstanding.

CHAPTER 109.

An act to alter and change all such parts of the Constitution and form of government of this State, as relate to the division of Worcester county into Election Districts.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That all such parts of the Constitution and form of government as relate to the division of Worcester county into election districts, be, and the same is hereby repealed.

Sec. 2. And be it enacted, That the third Berlin district be laid off into two separate election districts, and that the residue of the districts in said county be, and remain as they now are.

Sec. 3. And be it enacted, That if this act be confirmed by the next General Assembly after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of the constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing therein contained, to the contrary notwithstanding.

CHAPTER 110.

An act to regulate the removal of Proceedings in Criminal cases, and to make certain changes in the Constitution and form of government.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That all such parts of the Constitution and form of government as relate to the removal of Proceedings in Criminal cases, and to make certain changes in the Constitution and form of government, be, and they are hereby repealed.

Sec. 2. And be it enacted, That the third Berlin district be laid off into two separate election districts, and that the residue of the districts in said county be, and remain as they now are.

Sec. 3. And be it enacted, That if this act be confirmed by the next General Assembly after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of the constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing therein contained, to the contrary notwithstanding.

CHAPTER 111.

An act to regulate the removal of Proceedings in Criminal cases, and to make certain changes in the Constitution and form of government.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That all such parts of the Constitution and form of government as relate to the removal of Proceedings in Criminal cases, and to make certain changes in the Constitution and form of government, be, and they are hereby repealed.

Sec. 2. And be it enacted, That the third Berlin district be laid off into two separate election districts, and that the residue of the districts in said county be, and remain as they now are.

Sec. 3. And be it enacted, That if this act be confirmed by the next General Assembly after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of the constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing therein contained, to the contrary notwithstanding.

CHAPTER 112.

An act to regulate the removal of Proceedings in Criminal cases, and to make certain changes in the Constitution and form of government.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That all such parts of the Constitution and form of government as relate to the removal of Proceedings in Criminal cases, and to make certain changes in the Constitution and form of government, be, and they are hereby repealed.

shall order a transcript or copy of the record of such proceedings in the prosecution, to be transmitted to the court having criminal jurisdiction, in any adjoining county, either within the same district, or the county adjoining the district in which the indictment is found, in which the same shall be heard and determined, in the same manner as if such prosecution had been originally instituted therein.

Sec. 2. And be it enacted, That if any person against whom any indictment shall be found for any felony or misdemeanor, other than those herein before mentioned, or for any forcible entry and detainer, or forcible detainer, who may hereafter be removed to any county court, or to Baltimore city court, shall suggest in writing, supported by affidavit, or other proper evidence, that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had in the court where such indictment is found, or to which such indictment shall be removed, it shall be in the discretion of the court, and the said court is hereby authorized and empowered, if they shall deem a proper removal proper, to order a transcript or copy of the proceeding in the said prosecution to be transmitted to the court having criminal jurisdiction, in the adjoining county, either within the same, or any adjoining district, and the said prosecution, when so removed, shall be heard and determined in the same manner as if such prosecution had been originally instituted therein.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 7. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 8. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 9. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 10. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 11. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 12. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 13. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 14. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 15. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 16. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 17. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 18. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 19. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 20. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 21. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 22. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 23. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 24. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 25. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 26. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 27. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 28. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 29. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 30. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 31. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 32. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 33. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 34. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 35. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 36. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 37. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 38. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such new election, as the constitution and form of government directs, in such case this act, and the alterations herein contained, shall continue in force, as a part of said constitution and form of government, to all intents and purposes, any thing in the said constitution and form of government to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 39. And be it further enacted, That if this act shall be confirmed by the General Assembly, after the next election of delegates, in the first session after such

ISSUE(S) MISSING NOT AVAILABLE

MARYLAND STATE ARCHIVES
Annapolis, MD

MARYLAND STATE ARCHIVES

Elkton Press
ELKTON, MD

1830, Nov. 6 - 1830, Dec. 25

MdHR M 7353-05

Photoduplication No. 912978
06/03/91

89

NOVEMBER

MARYLAND STATE ARCHIVES
Annapolis, MD